

One sunny morning, Malakai and Beriah were exploring the forest together. “Look, a bridge!” Malakai said with excitement. Holding the scroll, he began to cross it. Beriah followed, eager to see what lay ahead.

