

After a warm day, Malakai and Beriah were on their way home. They crossed a bridge together and admired the beauty of the woods.

